REHAU Window Solutions expands its Smart Solutions portfolio at Fensterbau Frontale 2026, further strengthening the business of its partners and customers as the All in One Partner. New smart access concepts in the new-build sector, a further-developed generation of the switchable privacy solution Smart Privacy, and additional applications for front doors and side panels form a seamless ecosystem for the connected building envelope.

Erlangen, 24 March 2026 – With a comprehensively expanded Smart Solutions portfolio, REHAU Window Solutions presents itself as the leading All in One Partner at Fensterbau Frontale 2026. The focus is on new solutions for smart access, Matter-enabled products and connected applications at the front door, complemented by a new generation of Smart Privacy.

Smart Access Solution in Cooperation with NUKI – Integrated, Installation-Friendly and Professionally Conceived

New doors are opening: Step in and unlock new opportunities. REHAU Window Solutions presents a new solution for smart access control, offering an attractive product with significant growth potential. The solution was developed jointly with NUKI, the European market leader for smart access solutions. The result is a cooperation between two absolute innovation leaders, integrating seamlessly into door systems.

This empowers the customers and partners of REHAU Window Solutions to add a fully connected smart access solution for front doors to their portfolio. The module connects directly to the electromechanical lock and enables consumers to gain keyless entry via smartphone. Through integrated Matter connectivity, the doors are compatible with all common smart home systems. The secure and maintenance-free access solution from REHAU Window Solutions is straightforward to integrate and offers immense growth potential in an attractive future-oriented market. It offers:

- Maximum efficiency: Solutions from a single source from the All in One Partner REHAU Window Solutions.
- Premium upgrade: Future-proof, fully integrated smart access system for front doors.
- Leading technology: Deployment of the latest Smart Lock Generation 5 technology for optimum performance.
- Full flexibility: The module can be mounted on the hinge side in all profile materials or integrated invisibly into the door leaf, and is compatible with all commercially available electromechanical door locks.
- Value-added service: Training options and support ensure maximum efficiency for business customers, whilst the established end-customer service provided by NUKI supports consumers.

- Strategic growth: The optimum solution for new-build projects is a concrete automation solution addressing global mega-trends such as smartification, residential comfort and security.

With this new smart access solution, REHAU Window Solutions once again significantly strengthens the market position of its partners in a dynamic, high-growth market.

Smart Privacy – Matter Integration and Door Controller for the Front Door

The further-developed Smart Privacy technology combines switching between transparent and opaque in milliseconds with comprehensive Matter integration. New is the Door Controller, a control module specifically designed for the front door, offering straightforward integration into leading smart home ecosystems and intuitive scene control. The Door Controller

- controls the door infill and one side panel,
- is fully integrated into the door on the hinge side,
- offers installation via ready-made plug connectors,
- is compatible with standardised 12V/24V power supplies,
- is fully Matter-enabled, and
- enables a significant price reduction in the Smart Privacy system through cost savings of up to 25 per cent, making it more affordable, scalable and attractive for both commercial customers and consumers alike.

REHAU Window Solutions is also presenting a new generation of Smart Privacy film at Fensterbau Frontale 2026 with 50 % less haze.

Front Door as the Intelligent Hub of the Building Envelope

Access solutions, Smart Privacy and digital connectivity are increasingly making the front door the central hub of the smart home. It combines security, privacy and comfort, and offers:

- integrated control logic,
- scenes and automations,
- clear operating concepts via app or smart home system, and
- high compatibility thanks to the Matter standard.

The combination of door systems, smart components and digital services creates a holistic added value with which the All in One Partner REHAU Window Solutions extends the business model of window and door professionals with promising options.

“With the consequent integration of the Matter standard and our pioneering new solutions for smart access control, we are creating a seamless, reliable technological foundation for connected building envelopes. REHAU Window Solutions offers future-ready and innovative window and door systems that integrate seamlessly into modern smart home environments. Window and door professionals benefit from minimal installation effort, high system compatibility and maximum benefit from a single source – while also generating strong appeal for end customers,” says Fabian Meutsch, Director Smart Products, REHAU Window Solutions.

The innovations from REHAU Window Solutions at the Nuremberg world-leading trade fair focus on these growth modules:

- Profile Solutions: High-Tech Materials for Top-Class Innovations.
- System Accessories with Added Value: Attractive Additional Options from a Single Source.
