The REHAU Accessories range complements our profile offering and provides you with the following benefits:

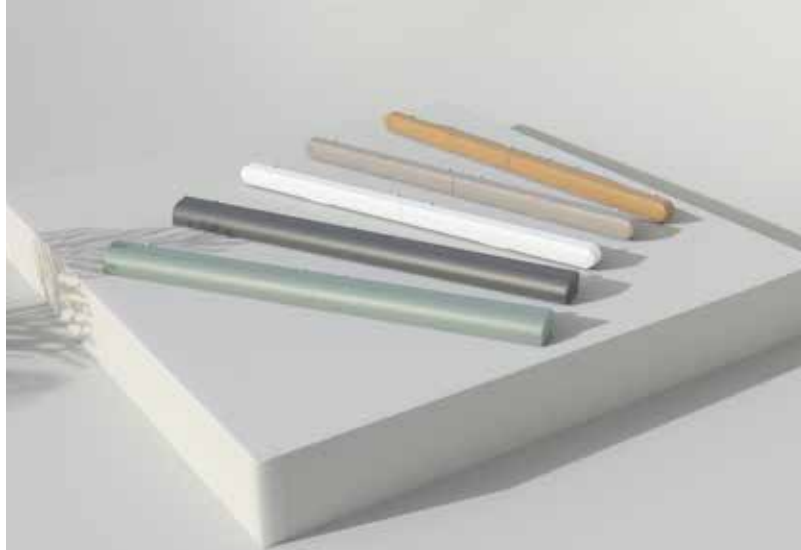

- Guaranteed high quality products
- A more efficient ordering process with streamlined deliveries

Steel reinforcements

Reinforcements add greater strength and limit profile expansion and contraction in different temperatures, especially when foiled.

Key features:

- Our windows and doors have been tested to BS 6375 and PAS 24, using REHAU specified steels which have a specific geometry, base material and Zinc 275 corrosion protection.
- We provide cut length steel ranging from 500-1,900mm and pre punched steel, reducing manufacturing time and creating efficiencies within your processes.
- Our technical support such as thermal simulations (U-Values) and structural calculations are based on REHAU steels and therefore only valid when these are used.

Trickle vents

The innovative Glazpart trickle vent solution from REHAU provides a link which allows the closure plate to be positioned to reduce draughts and direct air away from occupants.

Key features:

- Customers will meet the current ventilation building regulations with our extensive product offering.
- Optional easy-to-install clip.
- Developed in three sizes 5000 EA, 4000 EA and 2500 EA
- Perfectly colour matched to REHAU profiles.

In addition, we offer a concealed ventilation solution with our new header vent profile which integrates the trickle vent within the framework of our TOTAL70 and Rio windows and doors.

Baypoles

Our innovative baypole systems are engineered to provide superior structural support while enhancing the visual appeal of bay and bow window installations. The systems are designed with flexibility in mind and deliver reliable performance and peace of mind for both installers and homeowners.

Key features:

- Available in both variable and fixed configurations, enabling precise adaptation to a wide range of window designs and structural requirements.
- Developed in line with BS 8213-4:2007.
- Offered with REHAU foiled finishes, allowing seamless coordination with a variety of window styles and colours.
- Durable and low maintenance.
